Dunwoody College of Technology works hard to find every possible way to offset the cost of enrollment. It is recognized that the degree attained from DCT provides many opportunities, but also realizes that students have many commitments that place a strain on their ability to make ends meet. Over the past several years, hundreds of thousands of dollars have been set aside to help students finance their education. Below are guidelines for merit based and financial need based internal scholarships and other pertinent information, to assist students with financing their education.
